

Columbia and Coventry Hop River State Park Trail

Trail Highlights

This trail is a part of the Hop River State Park Trail that begins in Bolton and ends in Columbia/Windham; it is also a part of the planned East Coast Greenway. This 5.4-mile trail meanders along the Hop River in the towns of Coventry and Columbia. It begins at the Andover town line, where it connects with Andover's portion of the trail. Then the trail travels about 1.4 miles before it crosses River Road. After continuing east another mile the trail meets Pucker Street, and then runs 0.75 miles before going under Route 6. The trail travels 1.5 miles where it reaches its terminus at the Willimantic River in Windham. Currently, a connection between this section and the Air Line State Park Trail has not been made, but is being reviewed.

There are remains of railroad bridges along this trail. Extreme caution must be taken in these areas.

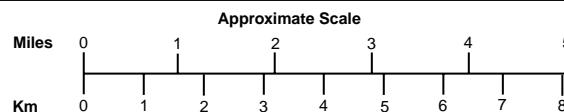

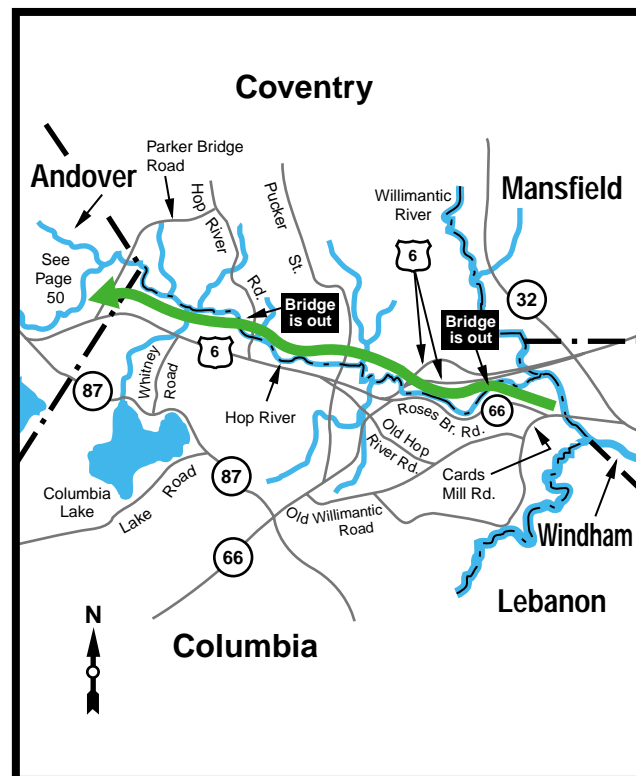

Parking and Accessibility

No designated parking area is available for trail users.

From Route 6 East: In Columbia, turn left onto Hop River Road. Or follow Route 6 further east, and take a left onto Pucker Street. The trail can be accessed off of these roads.

From Route 6 West: In Columbia, follow Route 6 West for about 0.5 miles, then take a right onto Pucker Street, or follow Route 6 West and turn right onto Hop River Road. The trail can be accessed off of these roads.

COLUMBIA AND COVENTRY HOP RIVER STATE PARK TRAIL

Recommended Activities

Prohibited Activities

LOCATION: Columbia and Coventry

ENDPOINTS: Andover town line and Windham town line

HOURS: Dawn to dusk

LENGTH: 5.4 miles

SURFACE: Gravel, broken stone and compacted earth

CONTACT: Department of Environmental Protection
Eastern District Headquarters
209 Hebron Road
Marlborough, CT 06447
(860) 295-9523